

Based in London for many years, I worked as a solicitor and was also, for over eight years, a governor/Chair of governors in a special school. During that time, I visited Cornwall several times, including participating in musical events, and recently moved to Carbis Bay. I am keen to participate and contribute where I can and look forward to working with other governors, teachers and the school community.