HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Birthday wishes for this week go to:

Lakshika, Rory L and Sammy

Assemblies

This weeks values are Knowledge and Individual Liberty. We looked at discoveries made by archaeologists which showed that the organisation of living spaces by Neanderthals was very similar to that of Homo Sapiens. This information highlights that we all have certain common traits, in this case comparable cognitive capacities and underlying logic. These and other similarities exist amongst all humans despite our individual cultural differences.

Parent Questionnaire

Please click on the link below to access the annual parent questionnaire. Please scroll through and complete as soon as you can and by Monday , 20 May, at the latest.

ROUNDERS MATCH REPORT

The first Rounders match of the season was played against Mousehole school and was a resounding success. The team played an amazing game with some fabulous fielding resulting in lots of outs. There was also some very strong batting. Every member of team contributed to our 12—4 victory!! A huge congratulations to the whole team. Roll on the next match!

Request!!!

If anyone has any foam lying around that they would be happy to donate to the school we would be so grateful.

Spring into Summer disco

Don't forget to register for the upcoming disco. Just scan the QR code on the attached poster—or look out for posters going up around the school.

NUT FREE SCHOOL

Please remember that St Erth School is a NUT FREE SCHOOL. Please ensure that children don't bring in any food containing nuts. Thanks to you all on your help with this. It essential to ensure that we keep the whole school community safe.
